The recordings of the webinars will be available online via your personal dashboard in the week following the live sessions and will feature closed captioning.

This webinar will be presented by Dani Reyes-Acosta, an athlete and storyteller exploring human experience—and how we build community with others on this planet.

Dani Reyes-Acosta

Dani is a mountain athlete rewriting the narrative of who plays outside and how we build community with others on this planet.

Originally from Southern California, she has traveled through Argentina, Chile, Mexico, Peru, Andorra, Canada and the USA building her mountain craft since 2014, when she graduated from corporate life with a one-way ticket to South America.

A splitboarder, rock climber, mountain runner, and waterwoman, she has been featured in the Washington Post, She Explores, Women on the Road, the Los Angeles Times, and regional publications throughout the American West.

Currently partnered with Protect Our Winters, Salomon, Suunto, Trail Butter, Anon Optics, and Athletic Brewing, her mission is to inspire individual action and collective communion through self-care and self-determination found in the outdoors.

Her goal as a mountain athlete is to find the limits of her possible, searching for high peaks and ski lines that tell the story of Mother

Earth's most impacted places. Visit DaniReyesAcosta.com or @NotLostJustDiscovering for more.

COVID-19

Australian Wool Innovation / The Woolmark Company (AWI/TWC) continues to monitor the COVID-19 (Coronavirus) situation closely and our staff in Sydney have now physically resumed work in the office. In the interests of protecting all staff and partners we work closely with, this may vary within other TWC global offices and is dependent on the Government and Public Health Authority in each country. We are very confident in the technology the company has set up and mobility devices allow all functions of the business to continue effectively for any offices on days they may be working remotely.
