

2024 HIP Halla International Pioneer Program

Halla University, a leading global university, will celebrate its 30th anniversary in 2025. The university has grown based on innovative technology, and one of the driving forces for the growth has been cooperation with and support from HL Group. HL Group is a future-oriented company that mainly provides auto parts and software and has subsidiaries around the world. Celebrating its 30th anniversary, Halla University and HL Group aim to take a leap forward by disseminating the excellent educational and creative capabilities of both institutions to the world. As part of this purpose, Halla University, in cooperation with HL Group, plans to invite excellent students from around the world and provide students with programs that encompass the challenging spirit of Halla University and the group, as well as Korean language, culture, economy, and technology. Through this program, students can gain diverse and valuable experiences so that can improve their own learning capabilities and problem-solving skills. Furthermore, by increasing their understanding of Korea, students can contribute to promoting friendship and technological development between their home country and Korea.
